DCIST is a group of natural resource professionals and interested public members that are concerned with preserving Door County's natural environment. DCIST seeks to halt the invasion of exotic non-native plants by empowering citizens with the education, the tools and the skills necessary to control invasive species.

Since 2000; the financial support and actions of many residents, visitors, and interested organizations have played critical roles to the growth and awareness of the DCIST. With the success and growth DCIST has experienced, there is an increasing need to financially continue the invasive species control efforts. Grant programs have given DCIST the necessary seed monies to fund a coordinator, an LTE, educational materials, and workshops; however the grants have also limited efforts due to specific grant requirements and limitations. Donated funds will allow DCIST to supplement funding activities mentioned above, but will also assist in the necessary funds needed to assist landowners with physically controlling invasive species in Door County. Donated funds will also aid in future applications for additional grants by showing required partnerships and match funding.

The Door County Soil & Water Conservation Department (SWCD) has agreed to manage and maintain DCIST donations, please make checks payable to Door County SWCD, indicate on the memo line that this is a DCIST donation, and include the donation slip provided below.

Thank You! Your ongoing support is greatly appreciated!

The good news is that this is one environmental problem that we can do something about. I have seen the tremendous difference that even a few individuals can make in the battle to regain the land for native species. – Elizabeth J. Czarapata, Invasive Plants of the Upper Midwest, 2005
